

92 YEARS YOUNG

AN AMERICAN COMPANY

Because of Mr. Allen's innovative manufacturing techniques, Allen Edmonds was founded with the slogan, "A new kind of shoe company." Nearly a century later, the essence of that motto — the fact that our company is unique — still rings true. We're proud to have inherited the art of handcrafting classic American shoes right here in Wisconsin just like our founders did. But we're equally pleased to have carried our founder's legacy into the 21st century. By embracing exciting partnerships, creating contemporary designs, expanding our product offerings and reaching fresh markets, we continue to remain "a new kind of shoe company." We're just one that happens to be guided by the traditional values of hard work, honesty, humility and trust, allowing us to grow to be 92 years young.