Few things go better together than J.W. Hulme's briefcases and luggage—hand made exclusively for Allen Edmonds from American bison—and our Rough Collection shoes inspired by the rugged landscape and natural beauty of the American West. Both feature artisan craftsmanship and premium materials so that they stand the test time and get better looking with each passing day. Timeless styles from two companies that share the same Midwestern values of hard work, honesty, and pride in using the best to make the best, these bags and shoes are a perfect match made in America.
